Chair’s report

Any successful organisation has to manage its growth and Restless is no different. In 2013 Restless expanded and diversified its workshop program to a point where we now have workshop offerings covering an entire lifespan!

April saw the inauguration of the Senior Ensemble as a weekly workshop which is open to dancers who have been in previous Restless productions. Previously, dancers who had spent 12 years with Restless from age 15 to 27 had to graduate from the company, taking with them the expertise and skills they had developed over the years. These dancers now have the opportunity to continue their weekly engagement with Restless, maintain their dance practice, and continue the friendship with each other. It is a wonderful thing to be able to offer this extension to our program, as it was frequently very sad for one of our members to reach the age of 27 and find there was nothing to replace what had been an enjoyable and important part of their life.

Midway through the year Restless adopted an existing group of young disabled dancers in the 8–12 year age range. This group had previously worked with Bonnie Williams at DanceLynx and had continued meeting under the leadership of Emma Stokes. This has become a Restless workshop offering entitled Links. And, indeed it does provide a link between our Growth Spurt workshop program targeting 2–4 year olds with our Central workshops aimed at 12 – 27 age group.

Restless has enjoyed a year long residency at the Riverland Special School in Berri. This was supported through the Community Education Partnerships: Artists in Residence Initiative (CEP-AIR) which is jointly managed by Arts SA and the Department for Education. The residency culminated with a well supported performance at the Chaffey Theatre in Renmark in March 2014. As a small company it is impossible to be able to serve the entire State, and we are rightly proud to be able to provide opportunities for youth with disability in the regions when we can.

The continued development of excellent quality works of dance theatre continued throughout 2013 with the creative development and the consequent full production of Salt directed by Rob Tannion at the end of the year, which included the employing of four young dancers at professional rates. The resulting work was well regarded and the entire cast and crew are to be congratulated.
We were also able to repeat the successes of the Debut program for a fourth time in November 2013, with five emerging directors with a disability given the chance to excel. Congratulations to all involved in this important showcase.

We are blessed with wonderful staff at Restless, who were joined by our new Artistic Director, Michelle Ryan in January of 2013. Michelle has fitted in beautifully, her warmth of character and deep understanding of dance theatre together with her enthusiasm and vision have been enjoyed by Board, Staff and Community alike. Thank you Michelle, Nick, Maggie and Lyn for your continued hard work, insight, patience, persistence, creativity and shared camaraderie – it is evident to all, upholds the Restless values, and is crucial to our ongoing success.

Lastly, as I pen this report Restless is facing an uncertain future as we consider the need to relocate from our current base due to the loss of funding by our neighbour and co-venue lessee, CAN SA. We would love to share the current site with another likeminded organisation, co-locate with another or find a new central location to suit our needs, please don’t hesitate to contact Nick if you have any ideas.

Thanks also are due to all the funding bodies that supported Restless during the year: the Dance Board and the Community Partnerships Section of the Australia Council, Carclew, Arts SA and the Department for Communities and Social Inclusion.

Finally let me extend my thanks to my fellow board members, an experienced group of professionals and representatives who have put in many hours behind the scenes ensuring Restless not only continues to grow, but at the right pace.

Jayne Boase
CHAIR
Artistic director’s report
It has been an extremely hectic but exciting year and I’d like to share some of the many highlights of 2013 with you.

Restless has a fabulous and engaging workshop program. With talented teams lead by passionate tutors including Emma Stokes, Jo Stone and Sally Chance the company was able to present workshops in various locations in Adelaide and the Riverland. The Studio was the height of activity with the continuation of our open access program Central, which continued to grow in participant numbers and with the Youth Ensemble, which was reinvigorated by four new members. The Senior Ensemble was established and we welcomed past performers of the company to the ensemble. Further afield, teams presented the beautiful Growth Spurt program at Down Syndrome SA and at the Hackham West Children’s Centre, the inspiring From the Ground Up program in the Riverland and a series of engaging workshops with SCOSA (Spastic Centres of South Australia).

The Youth Ensemble, Senior Ensemble and 1st year students from AC Arts collaborated on the year’s main production Debut 4 – the dancers direct. The production saw five emerging choreographers hone their skills and craft with the support of industry mentors. What resulted was the creation of five beautiful and well-crafted pieces. Congratulations to the directors Jianna Georgiou, Lorcan Hopper, Dana Nance, Jesse Rochow and Matt Shilcock for a successful season, which was elegant, sophisticated and stimulating. The works showcased the depth and talent of the emerging creators and Restless dancers. Thank you to mentors Lisa Heaven, Katrina Lazaroff, Larissa McGowan, Tuula Roppola and Peter Sheedy.

The Touring Company consisting of Felicity Doolette, Jianna Georgiou, Lorcan Hopper and Dana Nance launched into a five-week creative development for the production, Salt. We welcomed to the company internationally renowned director Rob Tannion who explored ideas around self worth. Thank you to Rob for his generosity, sensitivity and creative spirit and to the dancers for the honest and emotional responses to the theme. The team worked beautifully together and it was a fantastic experience to work as Assistant Director on this creation.

Restless attracts artists of the highest calibre and this year was no exception. 2013 marked the return of the familiar faces of creatives Gaëlle Mellis, Geoff Cobham, Sue Grey-Gardner and Tyson Hopprich all of whom have had a long and committed relationship with the company. We also welcomed a new face to the creative team in Meghann Wilson as an emerging designer.

To watch a Restless production is an amazing experience but to be part of the Restless journey is both humbling and exhilarating. Personally 2013 has been an exciting year. In my first year as Artistic Director, it was a priority to build positive, respectful relationships with everyone involved with Restless. I believe this has laid a foundation from which we can continue to create great things together. None of what we do would be possible without the support of the Restless staff and Board, creatives, participants, parents and funding bodies for which I thank you, with special thanks to Nick, Maggie and Lyn.

I look forward to what lies ahead as the future is filled with possibilities, potential and hopefully lots of fun along the way.

Michelle Ryan
ARTISTIC DIRECTOR
In 2013, Restless Dance Theatre flourished under the new artistic directorship of Michelle Ryan. It has been a productive and busy year with the major production, Debut 4, and rehearsals for the Touring Company’s 2014 production, Salt as well as the first creative development for Michelle’s directorial debut to be showcased in 2014.

Restless Dance Theatre’s Touring Company did a Creative Development of Salt, a work by Spanish based director Rob Tannion. An exploration of worth, value and commodity, Salt will premiere at The Odeon Theatre in January 2014. The production features a dynamic cast of Lorcan Hopper, Jianna Georgiou, Dana Nance, and Felicity Doolette. The company anticipates future touring opportunities.

Dancers from the Youth Ensemble, Senior Ensemble, and AC Arts first year dance students amalgamated to create and perform the very successful season of Debut 4. It showcased five diverse works directed by emerging artists from the Youth Ensemble. Jianna’s Debut 4 piece, Spirited Garden, will be performed as a part of the Australian Youth Dance Festival in Renmark, April 2014.

September saw the first creative development for Michelle’s new work, In the Balance. The workshops explored interpretations of measuring self worth. Members of the Youth Ensemble explored what is important to them and how they value themselves in society. With another rehearsal period nearing, Restless looks forward to In the Balance reaching its production season later in 2014.

Restless was excited to launch the Senior Ensemble giving graduates of the Youth Ensemble further direction and opportunities in their performance careers. Workshops have involved further developing skills with a focus on individual aspirations. Weekly workshops for the Youth Ensemble, led by Michelle Ryan and Jo Stone, and for the Senior Ensemble, led by Jo Stone and Kyra Kimpton, have expanded skills and technique while creating an environment for artistic expression and professionalism. Notable guest artists such as Vincent Crowley, Rob Tannion, and Larissa McGowan delivered workshops and masterclasses, which challenged the dancers to add to their movement vocabulary and technique.

The making of a film clip brought another highlight for the year. The Adelaide based band The Audreys invited Youth Ensemble dancers Lorcan Hopper, Josh Campton, Michael Hodyl, and Chris Dyke to feature in a film clip for a song on their upcoming album for 2014.

The projects and opportunities for the dancers have further cultivated creativity, growth, and much enjoyment. A warm thank you from the dancers of Restless Dance Theatre.

DANCERS’ REPRESENTATIVES
restless dance dancer’s report
Since 2008 Restless has been successful in its applications for Annual Program funding to the Community Partnerships Section of the Australia Council. The gradual increases in this funding in succeeding years has allowed the company to steadily expand the range and diversity of its community workshop program.

Previous to this only the Youth Ensemble was able to run throughout the year and the Central Workshops, the company’s core open access program, were only able to run during one term each year. By 2011 Community Partnerships funding had increased to a level where Restless was finally able to run Central throughout the year. In 2013 the Company added two more workshop programs that will become year round activities next year: the new Senior Ensemble and the Links workshops for 8-12 year olds with disability. The expansion of the workshop program has strengthened and renewed the core activities of the company. The company has achieved this diversification while managing to steadily grow its reserves to 20% of income.

There has also been steady growth in the State workshop funding received from the State based Department for Communities and Social Inclusion. DCSI funding has also underpinned the growth of the Restless workshop program. The DCSI support includes funding for one term of Growth Spurt each year (the popular music and movement program for 2-4 year olds with disability). During 2013/14 this funding has migrated to the National Disability Insurance Scheme. This presents Restless with a number of challenges. Instead of being funded in advance to deliver this service, the company will now have to claim in arrears for the services delivered to each participant. The NDIS is a medical, therapeutic environment within which Restless will have to argue the case for support for its quality arts based approach and it will have to provide proof of the outcomes achieved. As the NDIS rolls out fully over the next few years, all of the funding that Restless currently receives from the DCSI may well migrate across to the NDIS. Being able to work successfully within the NDIS will become increasingly important for the company.

COMPANY MANAGER AND CEO
Company manager’s report
Awesome!
They rocked it. So great to see the personalities of the directors as they manifest through the bodies of talented performers!
Debut 4 - the dancers direct

In October and November Restless repeated this highly popular project and created opportunities for five members of the Youth Ensemble to direct their own short new works of dance theatre. Each director worked with an experienced professional mentor to ensure that they were appropriately supported to produce excellent work.

The 5 original works were of excellent quality and demonstrated great skill from the choreographers and the performers. All the Mentors gave wonderful support to the Directors. This is a very difficult role to get right. The Mentor needs to be able to support without directing; to facilitate rather than demonstrate; to inspire rather than instruct. All of the mentors managed this delicate balancing act with finesse.

Directors who had directed before were able to further develop their skills. Some of their pieces achieved great power and elegance. (Spirited Gardens by Jianna Georgiou toured to the Australian Youth Dance Festival in Renmark in April 2014).

The first time Director (Jesse Rochow) produced a work of truthfulness and eloquence.

The Debut series of projects has seen the growth of a valuable partnership with the Dance Course at AC Arts. This connection was strengthened and developed through the participation of first year dance students again and by both Peter Sheedy and Lisa Heaven taking on mentoring roles.

In the event only three AC Arts dancers and three Senior Ensemble dancers were able to join the Debut 4 casts. This meant that the five pieces had quite small casts of three or four dancers. In two cases the Directors chose to dance in their own pieces to increase these numbers. It was initially thought that this would be a disadvantage but the Directors rose to this challenge and created works that were exquisitely detailed and precise.

The audience response was universally extremely positive:

Salt
A creative development of a Touring Company work for 2014 was held in the Restless Studio:19 November – 20 December. Salt was directed by Australian choreographer Rob Tannion who is currently based in Madrid. Rob has worked as a director/choreographer/fight director/acrobatic director/and performer in circus, dance, musicals, large scale events, site specific theatre, films and commercials all about the globe over the past twenty years. Four senior members of the Youth Ensemble worked with Rob to explore the theme of self worth: being worth your weight in salt. Salt premiered at the Odeon Theatre in 2014 and will be available as a touring show thereafter.

“A really diverse, accomplished and invigorating night of dance.”
From The Ground Up was a partnership project between Restless Dance Theatre and the Riverland Youth Theatre (RYT). The project was externally evaluated by researchers from Flinders University.

The Residency began in July 2012 and saw a team of four Restless tutors visit the school once a week over three school terms. In addition there was a week long Summer School in early January. The project culminated in a performance of The Memory Keeper at the Chaffey theatre in Renmark in March.

The Restless team was wholeheartedly welcomed into the school community and received extended support from some of the school’s staff. After a little nudging the majority of the teachers were working alongside the students, and in some cases created fantastic duets with the dancers.

The project started with the team working with the majority of the students at the school. After the first term a group of approximately twenty students were chosen to work closely with the Restless team to the end of the project. These students were specifically asked to work with the team due to their consistent enthusiasm for the process and their commitment to their movement, themselves and each other.

Several students also showed an interest in the digital component of the project and worked with local video artist Nic Tubb on techniques that allowed them to work collaboratively with the performers.

Outcomes

Overall the project produced many positive outcomes with greatest of these being the growth of the students’ self-esteem, confidence and enjoyment. The project also offered an active, healthy lifestyle option and a performing arts creative outlet to express emotion, ideas and memories that had never been expressed before by the individuals.

For the artists the project resulted in strong affiliations (professional and personal) being built between all involved.

There was a significant shift in the culture of arts engagement in the school. The school has added dance to its curriculum. This has been supported by Riverland Youth Theatre workshops continuing in the school after the completion of the project.

Parents and the broader community gained greater understanding of the value of arts engagement and the potential that young people with disabilities have in achieving a successful career in the arts.

There were 38 written responses to The Memory Keeper performance. They were all positive and illustrated just how inspiring the local community found the performance:

“Fantastic! The performers were so confident and obviously enjoying the whole experience. The buzz in the foyer afterwards was amazing. Well Done!”

Central

The open access workshop for new participants

The Company was again able to run the Restless Central program during all four school terms. The Tutor team was very ably led by Emma Stokes. The popularity of Central continues to grow and the increased numbers led to an increase in the tutor team from three to four. Two very successful showings were held during the year. One of the core functions of Central for the company is to act as a feeder group for the Youth Ensemble. Restless does not run a formal audition process. New members of the Youth Ensemble are usually invited to join after participating in a community workshop program. This year four Central participants were invited to join the Youth Ensemble.

Senior Ensemble

New group for Restless graduates

This is a new ensemble started in April 2013 for people who have graduated from the Youth Ensemble. For many years Restless, as a Youth Company, has been cutting its ties with dancers once they reach the age of 27. The Senior Ensemble has seen the return to Restless of several highly skilled dancers who have been members of the company for many years. The Senior Ensemble meets on Monday nights and was led by Jo Stone assisted by Kyra Kimpton.

Growth Spurt

Music and movement sessions for very young people with disability

Two projects were run of this highly successful program for 2-4 years olds who have some form of global delay. Participants attend with their parent/supporter. As with all Restless projects the tutor team includes tutors with disability. The Growth Spurt team also has a live musician. One project was run in Adelaide in partnership with Down Syndrome SA and the other in the southern suburbs of Adelaide in partnership with Hackham West Children’s Centre.
Links

New group for younger people with disability

Links is a group of 8-12 year olds with disability who have been working with Emma Stokes on Saturdays. This was a group established by Bonnie Williams through DanceLynx which was taken on by Emma when Bonnie went overseas. The group has been working in the Restless Studio and 2013 saw the incorporation of this group into the Restless program.

SCOSA

Two terms of Community Workshops

A partnership with the Spastic Centres of SA. Once a week workshops were held over two terms with participants from three different hubs run by SCOSA.

One Off Events

The Audreys

The Adelaide based band The Audreys featured four male Restless dancers in the filming of a video clip for the song Baby Are You There off their new album to be released in 2014. The dancers were: Lorcan Hopper, Josh Campton, Michael Hodyl, and Chris Dyke. The dance was choreographed by Michelle Ryan. The clip was filmed in the Restless Studio and supported by Arts SA’s Richard Llewellyn Arts and Disability Program.

Vincent Crowley Masterclass

Visiting dancer Vincent Crowley held a Masterclass in the Restless Studio entitled: Getting Started: Methods for developing physical material in devised theatre and dance. 16 people attended.

Rob Tannion Masterclass

Rob Tannion held a Masterclass in the Restless Studio entitled: Taking Risks: Movement, text, context and the physical body. 11 people attended.

Watershed

Michelle Ryan and Kyra Kimpton presented two workshops and took part in a panel discussion at the National Theatre Summit for Young and Emerging Artists in Canberra.

Auditor’s letter

Restless Dance Theatre Incorporated
I have audited the accompanying financial report, being a special purpose financial report, of Restless Dance Theatre Incorporated which comprises the statement of financial position as at 31st December 2013, the statement of financial performance and statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows for the year then ended, notes comprising a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information, and the statement by members of the committee.

Committee’s Responsibility for the Financial Report
The committee of Restless Dance Theatre Incorporated is responsible for the preparation of the financial report and has determined that the basis of preparation described in Note 2 is appropriate to meet the requirements of the Associations Incorporation Act (SA) and is appropriate to meet the needs of the members. The committee’s responsibility also includes such internal control as the committee determines necessary to enable the preparation of a financial report that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor’s Responsibility
My responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial report based on my audit. I have conducted my audit in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards. Those standards require that I comply with relevant ethical requirements relating to audit engagements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial report is free from material misstatement.
An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial report. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial report, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the association’s preparation of the financial report that gives a true and fair view, in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the association’s internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the committee, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial report.
I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my opinion.

Opinion
In my opinion, the financial report presents fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Restless Dance Theatre Incorporated as at 31st December 2013 and its financial performance and cash flows for the year ended in accordance with the accounting policies described in Note 2 and the Associations Incorporation Act (SA).

Basis of Accounting
Without modifying my opinion, I draw attention to Note 2 to the financial report, which describes the basis of accounting. The financial report has been prepared to assist Restless Dance Theatre Incorporated to meet the requirements of the Associations Incorporation Act (SA). As a result, the financial report may not be suitable for another purpose.
